CITY A.M.’S CRYPTO INSIDER

The high profile nature of the cryptocurrency market has attracted and alerted thousands of new investors, including many from traditional financial backgrounds. However, for many, the dense and complex world of blockchain and digital assets can be daunting. Our partner content series, CRYPTO A.M. INDUSTRY VOICES, explores different aspects of the crypto space and is written by experts in the field.

Last week, the publication from the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) was a significant step forward in the regulation of crypto assets. The FCA’s approach is designed to ensure that consumers are protected from the risks associated with crypto assets.

Now is the time to dig deeper into the potential of this asset class and the opportunities it presents. Whether you are a new investor or someone who has been following the space for some time, our partner content series offers insights into the landscape of the cryptocurrency market.
