The sideways price action, even as the market entered the final days before this week's options and futures expiries, continued to frustrate market participants. As a reminder, the end of June option expiry hit a record open interest (OI) of 110k BTC (circa UD 1.05bln), with the front-end of the skew creeping higher for much of the month, while the back-end has traded more or less steady. Looking at the front-end alone would imply cautious market positioning and yet, the spot has been resilient, albeit flat and the perp curve remained in contango territory (price bullish).

Elsewhere, Chainlink outperformed, up 10%, this comes following reports that China's recently launched national Blockchain Services Network (BSN) is bringing Chainlink oracle functionality to its network. This key integration will enable governments and enterprises to incorporate validated real-world data into their BSN applications using Chainlink oracles via the IRITA interchain service hub.

Professional Proof of Stake (POS) operator SNZ Pool will run nodes to support the operation. In other news, CoinDesk reported that ING Bank, the Netherlands-based lender with a penchant for blockchain, has developed a protocol to assist with the Financial Action Task Force's Travel Rule requirement for crypto exchanges and firms dealing in digital assets.
